- A The velveteen rabbit had fur.
- B The velveteen rabbit had eyes.
- C The velveteen rabbit had ears.

There was once a velveteen rabbit. He was soft, and fat. And he had beautiful brown and white fur, long pink ears and bright, shiny eyes. He arrived in the nursery on Christmas morning. He was on top of the boy's stocking with some holly between his paws. There were other things in the stocking, too. But the boy loved the velveteen rabbit best of all. Then the boy's aunts and uncles came to dinner. They brought lots of colourful presents. And the boy soon forgot about the velveteen rabbit as he played with all his new toys.

Play Station Project

Shadow Puppets

Make a shadow puppet theatre.

You need:

a cardboard box

a desk light

wooden sticks

black card

tracing paper or parchment paper

scissors

sticky tape

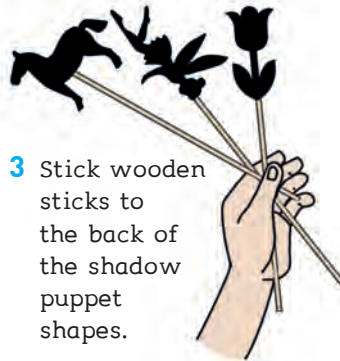

glue

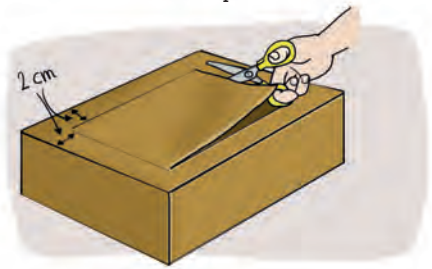

1 Download the shadow puppet shapes from ezonekids.helbling.com. Then print them.

2 Glue the printed sheets onto black card. Then cut the shapes out.

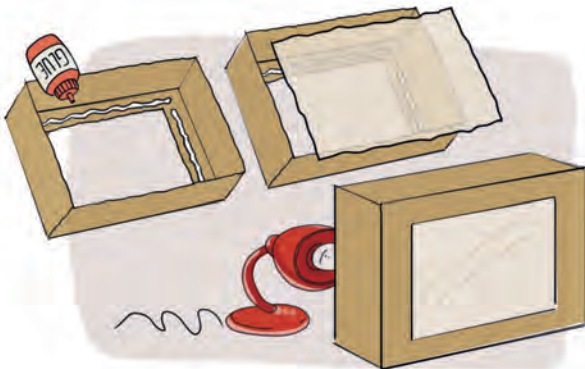

3 Stick wooden sticks to the back of the shadow puppet shapes.

4 Cut a rectangle from the front of the cardboard box. Leave the back of the box open.

5 Stick the tracing paper behind the rectangle. This is the front of your theatre.

6 Turn off the lights and put the desk light behind your theatre. Use your shadow puppets to retell the story of The Velveteen Rabbit.
